Coined the “MEP Man” by The Architect’s Newspaper, IBE Consulting Engineers Partner John Gautrey has been responsible for heating, ventilating, and air conditioning systems design for a vast number of multi-disciplinary projects. With more than 25 years of experience, he has managed the overall organization and coordination of building services design teams for higher education and K-12 facilities; sports and recreation facilities; cultural buildings, and government projects at the local, state, and federal level.

Known for his intellectual curiosity and creative brainstorming throughout the design process, John’s interest and expertise in sustainability, energy efficiency, and flexibility has contributed innovative design solutions to many sustainable and award winning projects such as the LEED® Platinum rated new academic building at Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science & Art in New York City, and the Charles David Keeling Apartments at UC San Diego.

Operating throughout the United States and internationally, IBE Consulting Engineers is based in Sherman Oaks, California.
