Architect Jeanne Gang founded her practice, Studio Gang, in Chicago in 1997. A MacArthur Fellow and National Design Award winner, Jeanne is recognized for her innovative work in architecture and urbanism. Her creative process is based on insight gained from both inside and outside of the traditional boundaries of architecture and often engages interdisciplinary collaborators, diverse organizations, and communities.

Under her leadership, Studio Gang has produced some of today's most compelling architecture, including the Aqua Tower in downtown Chicago and the Arcus Center for Social Justice Leadership at Kalamazoo College, Michigan. The Studio is currently engaged in community works and major international projects, including the expansion of the American Museum of Natural History, New York.

A graduate of the Harvard GSD, Jeanne has led studios at academic institutions such as Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Rice, and IIT on topics that include cities, ecologies, materials, and technologies. Honored and published widely, her work has been exhibited at the International Venice Biennale and the Museum of Modern Art, as well as in the solo exhibition Building: Inside Studio Gang Architects at the Art Institute of Chicago in 2012. She is the author of Reveal, published by Princeton Architectural Press, and Reverse Effect: Renewing Chicago's Waterways.
